

SONNET XXVI.

HE silly bird that hastes unto the net*

And flutters to and fro till she be taken, Doth look some food or succour there to get,

But loseth life: so much is she mistaken ! The foolish fly that fleeth to the flame

With ceaseless hovering, and with restless flight, Is burned straight to ashes in the same,

And finds her death, where was her most delight, The proud aspiring boy, that needs would pry

Into the secrets of the highest seat. Had some conceit to gain content thereby,

Or else his folly, sure, was wondrous great. These did through folly perish all and die: And, though I know it! even so do I!

SONNET XXVII.

OOR worm, poor silly worm, alas, poor beast!

Fear makes thee hide thy head within the ground. Because of creeping things thou art the least;

Yet every foot gives thee thy mortal wound. But I, thy fellow worm, am in worse state;

For thou thy sun enjoy est, but I want mine !
I live in irksome night, O cruel fate I

My sun will never rise, nor ever shine. Thus blind of light, mine eyes misguide my feet.

And baleful darkness makes me still afraid; Men mock me when I stumble in the street,

And wonder how my young sight so decayed* Yet do I joy in this, even when I fall, That I shall see again, and then see all!
